

FACT SHEET

Disability Access Services

The California Department of Rehabilitation (DOR) was designated by the Office of the Governor to serve as the lead state agency in California's efforts to implement the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) in state government. The Disability Access Services (DAS) was established in 1992 to promote disability rights in state government and DOR partnerships in the community. DAS serves as a centralized resource for providing public information, training, and technical assistance on the Fair Employment Housing Act (FEHA), ADA, and other related disability laws to state entities and agencies. Our dedicated staff has 150+ collective years of professional experiences in training, employment services, vocational rehabilitation, physical access, and program assessments.

We provide comprehensive consulting services and technical assistance in the following areas:

- Disability Awareness
- Reasonable Accommodation
- Accessibility to Programs and Services
- Physical Access Surveys
- Digital Accessibility
- Publications
- Referral and Resources
